We are in receipt of the Advance, from Lane, Franklin County, Kansas. It is a six column folio, the outside patent, and the inside home-print showing: some mechanical ability. Lane is a little town of less than a hundred souls, and we don't see where the new paper will get its support to exist cn. Right here we take the opportunity to say a word in regard to newspapers. Nearly every town in Kansas has from one to three papers, where in fact, there is a living for only one, there will be three or four. In Kansas has from one to three papers, where in fact, there is a living for only one, there will be three or four. In mine cases out of ten these new papers that are springing up in towns where there is not support for them, are started by young men who were very tired on their arrival into America and have never recovered, and thinking they were empowered with the intellect of Horace Greeley embark in the printing business. What is the result? It is just simply an existence of a few months and they are gone. Emporia has three plapers, of which two are run by new-paper men and are all the town can support, yet the newspaper business of that city is being disgraced by a man who has neither brains or money, publishing a paper where there is no room. And we could mention a number of other towns that are inflicted with snotty-nosed journalists who are better adapted to herding cattle than disgracing a legitimate business.—Burlington Patriot.

Stadewick county has 106,000 acres

Sledgwick county has 106,000 acres of glowing corn. The Eagle says: "This is the largest area ever planted in the county, and the yield will be the largest ever produced by any one county in any one year in the history of Kansas. So far as the corn crop is concerned the season has been most favorable, and that Sedgwick County will harvest 4,000,000 bushels of corn there is no doubt. Such a vast amount of corn is almost beyond comprehension. It would take over 11,428 car loads; or seven hundred and sixtyear loads; or seven hundred and sixty-two trains of fifteen cars to the train; or two trains a day for a year, including Sundays; or twenty-four trains a day, or one every hour, for thirty days, to move the entire bulk. But of course unless special and very favorable rates can be obtained only a small per cent of this vast amount will be shipped either West or to St. Louis. Hogs, cattle, sheep and horses will consume the most of it at home, making it worth from thirty to fifty cents per

It is now an admitted fact that Kan-It is now an admitted fact that Kansas is not receiving anything like the immigration it has been receiving for the past several years, and this in face of the fact that the immigration to the United States is larger, by hundreds of the sands than it ever was. The people who were wont to come to Kansas now go to Texas, stop in Missouri, locate in Minnesota, anywhere and for afording thereary increased facilities for afording thereary increased facilities for afording thereary in the contract of the same o locate in Minnesota, anywhere and everywhere except Kansas. There is a cause for this. What is it? Our lands are just as fertile and productive, our taxes are no greater but less, our financial condition is better than it ever was, our educational advantages are no less superior. Why is it then that emigration is diverged from the beaten path that has heretofore led to Kansas. There must be a reason, and somebody ought to be wise enough to determine what it is,

A story has been started that President Garfield will tenger ex-Senator Conkling the vacant seat on the Supreme Bench. It would be a clover thing to do, but the appointment would not be accepted. Mr. Conkling declined the Chief Justiceship once.

How Lost, How Restored!

Just published, a new edition of Dr. Chiverwell's Celebrated Essay on the Radical Cure (without medicine) of Radical Cure (without medicine) of Radical Cure (without medicine) of Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to marriage, etc.; also Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance. &c.

The celgbratyl author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstratas, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-ahase may be padically cured without the dangerous use of inkernal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once aimple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every suffery, up matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every young man in the land.
